Superintendent Attewell Wootton, Sr., who had such an influence on early Wasatch Schools, was succeeded as superintendent in 1905 by Orson Ryan, who served successfully many years. Supt. Ryan, one of the leading educators of our country was born in Hoytsville, Utah, and received his early education there. He then attended the B.Y. Academy for two years. He came to our county as a young man and taught school in Buysville, later known as Daniels. A few years later he married Janie Ohlwiler, of Heber, and taught school here.

He endeared himself to every one with a captivating twinkle in his eye and a talent for story telling. Though he was an exacting disciplinarian, he was an inspiring teacher. He participated in activities of the students to Midway in 1866, where he began teaching school. By 1887 he was so well known and liked that he was elected superintendent of Wasatch Public Schools and served in that office twenty-five years until his death in 1912.

Education in the county had already grown out of the log cabin stage when Attewell Wootton first came to Midway. School was now held in the new pot rock school house which was carefully whitewashed before each term. The slab seats had been replaced by benches and long desks with shelves underneath to hold school books. A stove at the side of the room and a water bucket with a dipper hanging on a nail driven into the back
